Product Activation

What is product activation?

To avoid the piracy of the products EMCO Software follows the license management system for their products. Each product has its license file or license key which shows that a particular product is registered to a certain company. Depending on the license type you choose for the products you purchased EMCO will send you a license file(key) for the activation of your product. When you download a trial version of a product it generally comes up with a free trial license and you are free to use that product during the trial period. When the evaluation period of that product ends it will not work any more.

Before continuing please make sure you have the latest version of the product. To check the version of your product please run the products you want to activate and Click 'About Products' menu item under 'Help' menu.

You can also use 'Check for Updates' under 'Live Update' Menu to get information about the current version of your product, as well as you can also check if any new updates are available or not.

If you don't have the latest version of the product you purchased then you can download it online from the download page of EMCO's website at: <http://emcosoftware.com/download.php>

There are several ways to register EMCO Products: registration by entering a license key or using a file.
